FROM THE EDITOR

Loren Finkelstein

Wishing everyone a Happy Spring! Flowers are in bloom, the birds are singing, and the April Dance Calendar is hustling and swinging into high gear!

It's hard to believe the pandemic started two years ago. With mask mandates lifted in most businesses and proof of vaccination no longer required, we're starting to adjust to life as we knew it. With reports of yet another variant making its way to the US, perhaps we'll ultimately manage Covid outbreaks as we do the flu. Despite the incredible challenges we have all faced, life carries on and the spirits of those we have lost live forever in our hearts and on the dancefloor.

This month's publication has something for everyone so start marking your April dance calendar! As always, please call the advertisers in this publication ahead before attending. You'll want to confirm dates and times as sometimes wrong information may appear, and events get canceled or rescheduled.

Stay well, keep smiling and get out there and dance!

Cross Body Lead

By Richard Fiore

(Licentiate, (LAB, LAR, T) Imperial Society of Teachers of Dancing)

The Cross Body Lead (CBL) is one of the most essential building blocks in nearly all dances. It is a gateway to more advanced figures and combinations of figures. A CBL is danced over relatively few steps; however, there are some subtle details that need to be considered in order to optimize dancing this figure.

In the Cross Body Lead the man leads the lady to cross directly in front of his body in promenade position.

It commences in normal closed dance hold, then to promenade and ends back in normal closed dance hold. This figure is frequently combined with other figures for a more stylized presentation. For example, it can be used in conjunction with inside and outside underarm turns commonly seen in salsa and other fast tempo dances. A Left Side Pass is a figure that is commonly referred to as a type of Cross Body Lead. It is danced in an open hold, i.e., leader's left to follower's right handhold or two hand hold. It is similar to a Cross Body Lead with the exception of the open dance hold.

To initiate a Cross Body Lead, the man turns to promenade as he steps to the side and slightly forward with his toes turned out. This step serves to open the track for the lady to cross through. He leads her to pass directly in front of his body and then closes the track as he reestablishes the normal dance hold. In rumba for example, the man steps side and slightly forward with his left foot on the 1ST step while turning 3/8 left as he leads the lady to step forward with her right foot. He then places the arch of his right foot near the heel of his left foot on the 2ND step. The lady steps forward with her left foot as she crosses in front of the man's body and then pivots 3/8 left at the end of this step. On the 3RD step the man steps forward with his left foot as the lady steps back with her right foot. The 2ND half of the rumba box typically follows as an additional 1/8 turn to the left is taken over these steps by both partners to complete 1/2 turn to the left. In summary, the man opens the path for the lady to pass through. He guides her to walk directly across and then pivot to her left as he continues to turn left to face her. This is analogous to him opening a door for the lady to cross through and then closing the door after she has passed the front of his body. This basic structure for a Cross Body Lead is the same for all dances.

There are various figures that can be combined with a Cross Body Lead such as underarm turns, outside breaks, Cuban walks, right side pass, and others. For example, in a Cross Body Lead to Outside Breaks, the man leads the lady directly into an Outside Break from a CBL. Typically after three Outside Breaks the man has the option to lead the lady into another CBL to repeat the same action on the other side or to simply end the figure.

The leader needs to give a clear indication that he is about to initiate a Cross Body Lead by looking over his left shoulder. This provides a valuable visual cue. He must intentionally move his left foot side and slightly forward with his toes turned out to open the track for the lady to pass through. If he fails to move his foot sufficiently out of her way, it creates an obstacle that will force her to take a curved walk around him rather than a straight linear walk. In extreme cases this may result in tripping the lady. The leader must not force the lady through the move. It is always better for him to gently guide her. He must not rush the figure and always maintain accurate timing with the music.

The lady has to properly interpret the man's lead. She has to take a straight line path crossing directly in front of the man's body provided the path is opened for her to do so. She steps forward with her right foot and then forward in-line on her left foot to pivot. If the pivot is not executed correctly she will likely be misaligned with her partner on the following step. Ideally, the pivot should be taken with the left foot in line with or slightly across the center line of the right foot with the right foot held in line (CBMP) during the pivot. This action requires good dynamic balance. The lady's focus should be on dancing a clean pivot turn. This will add greatly to the precision and styling of the Cross Body Lead.

The Cross Body Lead is a highly versatile and functional figure that can be used to initiate attractive combinations of figures and routines. It is a gateway to more advanced dancing that adds a refined styling to the dance.

Dancing with Fear - Part 2

By Michael Dittkoff

Michael Dittkoff has taken ten years of private ballroom, latin, swing and hustle lessons; eight years of private Argentine Tango, Waltz and Milonga lessons; three years of Embodied Yoga to improve his frame, and six months of Alexander Technique to improve his posture. He was also a dance host on three cruise ships.

Email Michael at: tangomaniac@optimum.net

Last month, I described the famous restaurant scene in the movie "Scent of a Woman." In his Oscar awarded performance, Al Pacino (Sgt. Frank Slade) asks Gabriel Anwar (Donna) if she wants to learn Argentine Tango while she waits for her boyfriend.

Frank: Would you like to learn to tango Donna?

Frank: I'm offering you my services, free of charge. What do you say?

Donna: I think I'd be a little afraid.

Frank: Of what?

Donna: Afraid of making a mistake.

Frank: No mistakes in the tango, Donna. Not like life. It's simple.

That's what makes the tango so great. If you make a mistake. Get all tangled up. Just tango on.

Why don't you try it? Will you try it?

Donna: All right, I'll give it a try.

And with those words, they dance to the famous tango that NOBODY knows the name.

Ah, mistakes on the dance floor. Some of us are consumed with absolute fear of making a mistake, as if we will be struck down by lightning, a trap door will open beneath us, or our partner will suddenly abandon us on the dance floor. As a beginner, I saw the dance floor as a minefield, fearing every step would trigger an explosion.

Beginners need encouragement there won't be casualties if they "step on a mine." So many times, we tell ourselves we'll try a new figure "after we know it well." But if we never try it, we'll never know it well. But the advice doesn't just apply to just beginners. Experienced dancers also need to realize that the earth won't spin out of its orbit if something goes wrong. The key to successfully executing a figure is to be relaxed. Clenched muscles restrict movement.

But every figure won't work with every partner. Searching for the right partner is like Goldilocks finding the bed that was "just right." I only try difficult figures if I am confident the woman can execute them. Sometimes she can't. I learned that sometimes I don't understand the figure as well as I thought or it's too difficult for my partner.

I stopped taking private lessons many years ago so the warranty on the figures expired. If the woman has good frame and we're in the correct alignment, (March 2018 issue) there's a good chance of success and no reason to dance with fear.

Dance with a Mission

Dance 'n Donate

For the past few months, Dance 'n Donate brought out the best camaraderie among us! We can simultaneously dance and do good deeds loud and clear. Now we can continue this mission of making such a statement of Dance-giving by one/both of the following ways:

- 1) Attending a dance event where I hold a 50-50 raffle. The winner keeps half; the other half, matched by me 3X, will be donated to the charity of my choice for the month.
- 2) Donating in cash or via Zelle (917-519-1531) or via Venmo (@meiling-LIU-11356)

Next Raffle: Saturday, April 9

at Lourdes Cruz's Monthly Dance at the Polish American Cultural Association
